

Name: _____

Raising Dragons Summary

Pa didn't know about dragons because he raised _____, _____barley, sheep, _____, and _____. Ma didn't know about dragons because she kept a real nice _____. The little girl knew about _____, especially that they were _____.

At first, Pa thought that raising dragons was plain _____. The little girl decided to do her _____ and keep her thoughts in her
_____.

One day the little girl saw something that looked like a big _____,
but it was too _____ and too _____. She rolled it into a(n)
_____. Pa said it was a(n) _____. He also told her to _____ from it. Even though she usually minded her parents, one night she couldn't sleep and climber to her _____ in the _____ tree.
A(n) _____ came out of the egg. She named him _____.

Usually dragons would eat all the food in the house, but Hank preferred _____, _____, _____, and insects.

Ma and Pa taught the little girl about caring for _____, so she took care of Hank. He became as big as the _____ from tail to snout. Once he learned how to use his wings, they'd go _____ most of the night. She saw things the way a cloud, _____, or a star might.

Things around the farm started to become strange. Hank and the little sowed the _____ and tended the _____. Hank even got her to school before _____.

Later, Hank protected Ma's _____. He saved almost all of them. Ma felt _____ to Hank. She began fixing _____ just for him; _____ frog-leg pudding, and a(n) _____ stew.

Another time there was too much corn. Hank turned it into _____ and they sold it at a(n) _____. Nancy Akins bought tomatoes because she said they had _____. Soon everyone wanted _____ food.

Then, the little girl and Hank went to the _____ landmass in the ocean. There were _____ everywhere. Hank felt right at home. Before she got on the _____ home, Hank gave her a _____ full of _____. She raised the _____. It was in her _____.